A HIGH-END LINE OF ELECTROEPILATION AND THERMOCOAGULATION PROBES

The creators of the Pro•Tec line of electroepilation and thermocoagulation probes were guided by one singular obsession – your peace of mind, and that of your client.

The peace of mind that comes from the oval-shaped MicroGard tip that ensures the smoothest possible insertions, prevents the probe from piercing the follicle, and provides optimal resistance when the base of the hair is reached.

The durable medical-grade IsoGard and IsoBlend teflon insulation concentrates the current at the probe's tip, which allows you to reduce the intensity of each current, thereby preventing any reaction at the skin's surface and minimizing discomfort for your more sensitive clients.

The color-coded SteriGard protective collar that protects against contamination and confirms at a glance that you've got the right probe.

SecurGard, the individual packaging system that guarantees that each unopened probe remains sterile for five full years.

At Pro•Tec, we've focused on providing you peace of mind so that you don't have to obsess about it. So relax – you've made the right choice.
